RSPB supports the commitment to bring nature into the urban environment (para 8.2) and to make provision for nature (Policy RFC1 The future of our centres). The pandemic highlighted the importance of access to the natural environment and so ensuring that nature is an integral part of all urban environments is integral to the vision for Exeter's centres. Bringing nature into the urban environment encompasses measures such as retaining and providing nesting sites for birds such as swifts, designing, planting and managing public realm spaces and green infrastructures so they provide habitat for wildlife and so benefit people's mental and physical wellbeing. Such provision for nature is in accordance with the National Planning Policy Framework (December 2024) policies in chapter 15 (eg, para 187d "incorporating features which support priority or threatened species such as swifts, bats and hedgehogs", and para 193d improving "biodiversity in and around developments should be integrated as part of their design, especially where this can secure measurable net gains for biodiversity or enhance public access to nature where this is appropriate."
