Paragraph 13.11 requires development to take account of Design Codes and other SPDs, and cites the only Design Code the city has for Water Lane. However, the final sentence says that 'Further design codes may be developed by the City Council'.

This is inconsistent with paragraph 13.6 which recognises that 'placemaking and design are vital at every stage... They can only be achieved by considering all relevant issues at the earliest possible stage and by taking a collaborative approach that involves the community and stakeholders.'

It is therefore essential that Design Codes are developed at an early stage by the council to ensure that the community and stakeholders are involved collaboratively at the earliest possible stage. ECC's current local plan committed them to producing a master plan for the Water Lane area but never did until after a developer had drawn up their own master plan which did not take account of all the relevant issues. Design Codes must be developed by ECC at the earliest stage as 13.6 to ensure that the community's voice is heard before developers start to dictate the scale of development. A well prepared design code will alert developers to the needs of an area, including critical infrastructure, and enable them to pay an appropriate price for sites, thus reducing the need for viability appraisals which may remove the need for the needs of the area, such as affordable housing.

5 (c). Please set out the modification(s) you consider necessary to make this part of the Exeter Plan sound, in respect of any soundness matters you have identified at 5(b) above.

You will need to say why each modification will make this part of the Exeter Plan sound. It will be helpful if you are able to put forward your suggested revised wording for the relevant policy or paragraph. Please be as precise as possible.

The final sentence of 3.11 should read 'Further Design Codes will be developed by the City Council for all major sites, and no development proposals should come forward until the Design Codes are adopted as an SPD.'
